A renovation refreshes the flagship hotel's spa common areas, including the elevator arrival moment, corridor, and reception area. Upon arrival, the guest begins a journey through a bespoke environment that has a unique, handmade quality, embodying the Four Seasons' character, one that is lavish for each guest. A richness of materiality and form come together to create a customized experience as one meanders through the space, engaging with staff and product. Overall, flow is improved and the expanded reception area provides better sight lines into the pool area, offering a glimpse of the relaxing experience awaiting guests.
